Afghanistan exit a 'disaster' and 'betrayal'

THE UK's withdrawal from Afghanistan last year was a "disaster" and a "betrayal" that will damage the nation's interests for years, an inquiry by MPs has found.

The Foreign Affairs Committee said there had been "systemic failures" of intelligence, diplomacy and planning.

Chairman Tom Tugendhat (above) said there had been a failure to lead "at a time when lives were quite literally being lost".

The cross-party MPs who carried out the inquiry said "mismanagement" of the evacuation as the Taliban quickly took over the country "likely cost lives".

They added they had lost confidence in the department's top civil servant, Sir Philip Barton, and urged him to consider his position.

The UK government said "intensive planning" went into the withdrawal.

Fewer people moving house

THE number of house sales taking place across the UK dipped in April, according to figures from HM Revenue and Customs (HMRC).

Some 106,780 transactions took place last month, 3.9% down compared with March.

Jason Tebb, chief executive of property search website

OnTheMarket.com, said: "It's clear the frenetic pace of the housing market has subsided, yet the 'new normal' market, an elevated version of the pre-pandemic market, continues to show resilience."

NEW LONDON TRAIN SERVICE FINALLY OPENS

ALMOST FOUR YEARS BEHIND SCHEDULE

THE first trains yesterday started operating on London's long-awaited Elizabeth line railway.

It will slash many journey times in the dirty, crime-ridden capital but is three-and-a-half years late and £4BILLION over budget.

The line stretches from Reading and Heathrow Airport, through central London, to Abbey Wood in southeast London and Shenfield in Essex.

A crowd of about 300 gathered outside Paddington Station to be on the first service.

However, things didn't go completely smoothly in the first few hours.

A fire alarm prompted an evacuation of the Paddington platforms just before 9am but services resumed when it was found to be a false alert.

The Crossrail project was one of Europe's biggest engineering schemes but was beset by delays after being scheduled to open at the end of 2018.

It should serve 200 million passengers per year and increase London's rail capacity by 10%.

The new trains were built in Derby and are the longest on London's network at 200m, with walk-through carriages and space for 1500 people.

Despite the fanfare on Tuesday morning, services will STILL not yet run uninterrupted along the whole line.

Passengers must change at Paddington until autumn, while

THANKS FOR, ER, WAITING... London Mayor Sadiq Khan

those going between central London and Shenfield have to change at Liverpool Street.

It will also be closed on Sundays for more testing and software updates, while Bond Street station is still not ready.

Cash boost for Rishi over cost of living crisis

CHANCELLOR Rishi Sunak has been given a welcome boost amid pressure to help with the cost-of-living crisis as government borrowing fell in April and figures revealed last year's public finances were better than first thought.

The Office for National Statistics (ONS) said government borrowing, excluding state-owned banks, stood at £18.6billion last month – lower than forecast and down by £5.6bn from a year ago.

The figure was still the fourth highest April borrowing since records began and £7.9bn more than in April 2019 before the pandemic struck.

But the data also showed borrowing was revised down by £7.2bn for the financial year to the end of March 2022, to £144.6bn.

It may offer some wiggle room for Mr Sunak (above).

He said: "We must take a balanced and responsible approach to support people now, while also not burdening future generations, and we're on track to drive public debt down by 2024-25."

We're struggling to pay for shopping

GROCERY inflation has hit its highest level in 13 years, with almost a quarter of shoppers struggling to make ends meet, according to industry data.

Kantar Worldpanel said its measure of inflation in supermarkets had risen to 7% from 5.9% just a month ago.

Prices were rising fastest in markets such as dog food, savoury snacks and fresh beef, the research revealed.

It reflected the surging costs from things such as energy, fertiliser, fuel and animal feeds being passed down the supply chain in the wake of Russia's war in Ukraine.

Prices had already been rising in advance of the war as worker shortages coupled with high demand to force up shipping costs.

Schapps claims

PM 'didn't know' booze-up was a party

HOW BLOODY STUPID DO THEY THINK WE ARE?

CHEERS: PM raises his glass and (below) Mr Shapps leapt to his defence

WITHOUT even blushing, a Cabinet Minister claimed yesterday that Boris Johnson DIDN'T know he was at a party as he hoisted a glass in a roomful of people surrounded by bottles of booze.

Shameless Grant Shapps said on Tuesday he was "angry" to see the photographs but suggested the Prime Minister may not have been fined over the event because he left the leaving do "pretty quick".

The Transport Secretary

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

argued that Mr Johnson had only "popped down" to toast departing communications chief Lee Cain on November 13 2020.

Downing Street has declined to defend the scenes ahead of the publication of Sue Gray's inquiry, which a No 10 source expects to be published today.

The leaving party took place just days after the PM had ordered England's second national lockdown.

Mr Johnson, who the Transport Secretary claimed was "mortified" by the latest revelations, was facing fresh allegations that he lied to Parliament after ITV News published the images.

Scotland Yard was also facing calls to explain why Mr Johnson was not fined over that event when photos showed him, drink in hand, by a table strewn with food and wine bottles.

Banned

There were at least eight other people in the room at a time when people were banned from social mixing, other than to meet one person outside, and at least one individual has received a fine over an event on that date.

Mr Shapps pointed to Mr Johnson's red ministerial box being present in the images as he claimed to Sky News the Prime Minister was "clearly not" partying.

"It looks to me like he goes down on his way out of the office and thanks the staff and raises a glass, and doesn't in his mind recognise it as a party," Mr Shapps said.

London Mayor Sadiq Khan was among those calling for Scotland Yard to explain why Mr Johnson only received a single fine for breaching lockdown rules with his 56th birthday gathering.

He said "the police should explain why they reached their conclusions and provide that clarity" in order to command public confidence.

KILLER COUZENS PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO FLASHING

SARAH Everard's killer Wayne Couzens has pleaded not guilty to a string of flashing offences.

Couzens, 49, is serving a whole-life sentence for the kidnap, rape and murder of 33-year-old marketing executive Ms Everard in March last year, when he was a serving Metropolitan Police officer.

Four incidents of alleged exposure are said to have taken place earlier that year in Swanley, Kent.

On Tuesday, Couzens (left), from Deal in Kent, appeared at the Old Bailey by video link from Frankland prison in Durham before Judge Mark Lucraft QC.

Couzens, a former armed officer with the Met's Parliamentary and Diplomatic Protection Command, denied four charges of exposure.

The charges state he allegedly "intentionally exposed his genitals intending that someone would see them and be caused alarm and distress".

The incidents are alleged to have taken place on four occasions in Swanley, Kent, between January 22 and February 1 2021, January 30 and February 6, on February 14 and February 27.

MEGA MAG STAR: Rachel in S Club 7

By GRACE HOOPER news@sundaysport.co.uk

SHE was the darling of the early Noughties Britpop era who graced countless photo spreads in the now-departed ladsmag era.

And boffins calculated that enough teenage seed was spilled over her to float a Royal Navy destroyer.

Now Rachel Stevens has revealed she would still be happy to pose up a storm in a bikini for magazine photo shoots.

The S Club 7 singer, 44, regularly appeared on magazine covers at the height of her fame and admitted: "Yes, I'd do another bikini shoot, why not?"

Rachel said she loved expressing herself through the creativity of photo shoots and enjoyed being involved in how the pictures would appear on the page.

As she reflected on past cover girl moments, she said: "If there is an opportunity to do all that then, yes, I could definitely see myself doing shoots like that."

Sexy

But the mother-of-two admitted that magazine shoots are very different now as she said the incredible shoots she did in her early career were "of-the-moment".

Rachel, who has done an array of scantily-clad shoots, previously promised that she would hang her favourite magazine cover on the wall of her north London family home.

But the news that Rachel, who was voted the sexiest woman of all time by FHM readers in 2014, would consider doing another sexy shoot was RUINED by slavering perverts.

When her comments were reported on the website of the hate-filled Daily Mail, one reader commented: "Open the legs wide and let us examine the plumbing."

Last night a friend of the star said: "The people who make these disrespectful, sexist comments are a menace to public discourse."

Love Island going out of fashion

LOVE Island's decision to dress contestants in second hand clothes from eBay could spark a change in viewers' shopping habits, fashion experts say.

The show had attracted criticism from sustainability advocates for promoting fast fashion with previous sponsors like Misguided and I Saw It First.

But a new partnership with eBay UK could change the way its viewers shop, said fashion consultant Natalie Binns.

The show's bosses said it was striving to be "a more eco-friendly production".

Waiting list to stay in suicide Vicky's room

CRIME geeks are lining up to stay in the motel room where former jail boss Vicky White and her convict beau Casey White stayed while on the run.

At least 70 true-crime aficionados are on a list to stay in Room 150 at the Motel 41 in Evansville, Indiana, where the lovebirds spent their final days together before Vicky (above) killed herself and Casey was caught after a chase.

A motel clerk said the ground-floor room, which normally costs $63 (£50) a night, is now going for $75 (£60) to $100 (£80).

On Sunday, 25 people called to ask for the infamous room, the clerk said, adding that staffers have removed the room number on the door after someone tried to swipe it as a souvenir.

The nondescript room features a queen-size bed and flat-screen TV.

Men's number one sexual guilty pleasure is sharing sexy pictures or videos with their friends without telling their partner – 52% of males have done this.

The results are revealed in a new survey by IllicitEncounters.com, the UK's leading affairs site.

42% of women doing this. Fourth on the female list is lusting after a hunky stranger they see every day at work or commuting – 38% of women ticked this box.

Second place on the male list is lusting after a female friend or work colleague and knowing they would cheat if given the chance. Half of men (50%) have experienced this guilty feeling.

Lusting

Third place went to watching porn or erotica without telling their partner – 48% of men do this.

Fourth place was lusting after a previous partner and wishing for a rematch – 44% of men have done this.

Jessica Leoni, sex and relationship expert with IllicitEncounters.com, said: "Guilt is one of the great aphrodisiacs."

"Sex is much more fun when what you are doing is forbidden or has to be kept a secret."

"Working from home has done wonders for couples' sex lives. Sex is much more exciting during the day when you are not tired and you are enjoying some quality time with a lover while pretending to be hard at work."

"It's no surprise that cheating features in both the female and male lists."

"Both sexes are busy lusting over colleagues or strangers and wishing they could have a rematch with a former lover because sex at home is often boring."

IllicitEncounters.com is enjoying the busiest year in its 19-year history as the end of the COVID crisis sparks a cheating boom.

MONKEYPOX 'NOT OUT OF CONTROL'

Health boss warns – don't make mountain out of molehill

CAUTION: Brialand

THE World Health Organization (WHO) said yesterday there have been 131 confirmed monkeypox cases and 106 further suspected cases since the first was reported on May 7 outside the countries where it usually spreads.

While the outbreak is unusual, it remains "containable" and limited, the WHO said. Monkeypox is a usually mild viral infection that is endemic in parts of west and central Africa. It spreads chiefly through close contact, and until the recent outbreak has only rarely been seen in other parts of the world. The majority of the recent cases have been reported in Europe.

"We encourage you all to increase surveillance of monkeypox to see where transmission levels are and understand where it is going," said WHO's Sylvie Briand.

She said it was unclear if the cases were the "tip of the iceberg" or if the peak in transmission has passed. Speaking at the World Health Assembly in Geneva, Briand said it is unlikely that the virus has mutated but said that transmission may be being driven by a change in human behaviour, particularly as people return to socialising as COVID restrictions are lifted.

Many, but not all, of the cases have been reported in men who have sex with men, and Briand said it was particularly important to try to prevent sexual transmission.

Symptoms include a fever and a distinctive bumpy rash. The West African strain of monkeypox spreading has a mortality rate of around 1%.

Emma 'relaxed' in a room full of naked people

ACTRESS Emma Thompson finds it 'relaxing' to be in a 'room full of naked people' and is never bothered about communal changing rooms.

She said: "I'm totes relaxed in a communal changing room. There is something so relaxing about being in a room full of naked people, like in a German sauna."

"No one really takes any notice and most of us are just vaguely normal shapes, nothing stupendous, nothing grotesque."

Thompson's relaxed attitude to nudity comes from her parents, Phyllida Law and the late Eric Thompson.

And she's hoping to pass her approach on to her and husband Greg Wise's 21-year-old daughter Gaia.

The 63-year-old (above) said: "I wrote a booklet for Gaia about sex when she was little and, instead of 'sex', I used the word 'shavoom'."

"I thought it was friendlier and fun. It's a hard word, sex. It has no softness, and so much of sex can be about softness."

Workers will 'vote with feet' over pay and job satisfaction

ALMOST one in five UK workers say they are likely to change jobs in the next 12 months as they seek better pay and job satisfaction, a survey suggests.

Accounting giant PwC said workers were starting to "assert their power" at a time when many bosses are struggling to recruit.

It found younger and highly skilled workers were most likely to be unhappy in their jobs or seeking a raise.

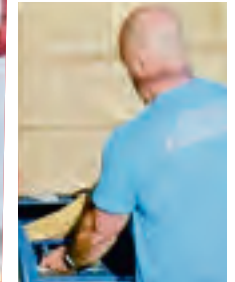

Some 60% also said they would prefer to work full or mostly from home.

"Employers can't be complacent," said PwC boss Kevin Ellis.

"Employees will vote with their feet if their expectations on company culture, reward, flexibility and learning are not being largely met."

CANNIBAL SERIAL KILLER: I'LL EAT JOE BIDEN!

THREAT TO PRESIDENT: Bartlett was seen (right) posting brown envelopes

Kim's bot to trot!

KIM Kardashian left little to the imagination in her latest Instagram post.

The reality star, 41, shared a new photo that shows the mother-of-four baring almost all on a trip to the beach.

In the photo, the SKIMS founder is seen wearing a tan coloured thong bikini that appears to be practically invisible.

A fan said: "I bet she farts with the dark poetry of distant thunder."

A SELF-CONFESSED cannibal has been arrested after writing a poison pen letter to the White House threatening to EAT President Joe Biden!

Jesse Bartlett, 46, is also accused of sending such letters to private businesses, houses of worship, media outlets and government offices in northeastern US states.

They include New York, New Jersey, New Hampshire, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Vermont and the District of Columbia.

The anonymous letters were allegedly sent by someone who claimed to be the "Chinese Zodiac Killer," a presumed reference to the infamous Zodiac Killer, who also sent threatening letters and was confirmed to have murdered at least five people in Northern California in the 1960s.

Occultist

In his letters, Bartlett allegedly wrote that he killed people, ate their flesh and that he plans to kill more, including an unidentified bus driver.

On May 12, Bartlett, who lives in New York's LaFargeville, was allegedly pictured placing what appeared to be brown envelopes into a US Postal Service collection box in Watertown and another in Clayton, according to court documents.

Authorities collected 21 letters from both boxes.

All were addressed to religious institutions and signed "Aleister Crowley", a name that was also referenced in earlier Chinese Zodiac Killer letters and presumably refers to the late English occultist and artist.

On May 15, Bartlett was again allegedly captured placing a brown package into a Watertown postal box.

Authorities said it contained 21 letters, but this time they were addressed to law enforcement agencies and some politicians.

"EVERY MONTH SINCE NOVEMBER I HAVE KILLED BOTH MALE AND FEMALES," the letter for the police and politicians read in part. "IT IS POSSIBLE THAT I AM KILLING INDIVIDUALS WHOSE IDENTITIES ARE IMPOSSIBLE TO TRACK (I.E. HOMELESS, RUNAWAYS, ILLEGAL IMMIGRANTS), AND DESTROYING ALL EVIDENCE SO EFFICIENTLY."

Bartlett has been charged with mailing threatening letters.

He is facing up to five years in prison.

TURN OFF TV AND DITCH CRISPS AND CHOCOLATES!

MORE than one in 10 cases of heart disease could be prevented if people slashed the amount of time they spent in front of the TV, a new study suggests.

Experts at the University of Cambridge said sitting around after a large evening meal – and snacking in front of the TV – all increase the risk of ill health.

They suggest that more than one in 10 cases of coronary heart disease could be prevented if people watched less than an hour of TV a day.

But, if that is not possible, they suggest getting up and moving around to break up TV-watching habits – and ditching the crisps and chocolates.

Obama photo in 'spot the primate' storm at school

A HIGH school teacher has been suspended after she gave students a worksheet that compared Barack Obama to apes and monkeys.

The Roeper School in Birmingham, Michigan, suspended the teacher after the activity, deemed racist, caused outrage among parents and city officials.

The teacher at the private school said she downloaded the worksheet from Duke University's website and inadvertently handed it out.

The activity asked 30 students to spot the primate. Among the pictures displayed were apes, monkeys, lemurs and a photo of the former US President (above).

The worksheet was created by undergrad graduates at Duke in 2010, just a year into Obama's presidency, and has since been removed from the website.

"It made me feel disgusted, I couldn't believe it," Roeper's director of diversity Carolyn Lett stormed.

"He seems to get more and more brazen with it."

Doll causes possession by DEVIL, claims loon

By SUZIE SHELTON
news@sundaysport.co.uk

A CHRISTIAN influencer is warning parents that a new yoga-themed Barbie doll is a “demonic attachment” and could lead to little girls getting possessed by SATAN!

Yasmeen Suri, an author, went on a rant to 20,000 Facebook followers, claiming “Breathe With Me” Barbie could lead to children becoming “possessed by demons” and suicidal.

The doll, which sits cross-legged in cloud-pattern pyjamas next to a little dog, also wears a crescent necklace with a button that, when pressed, prompts yoga Barbie to recite five guided meditations.

Mattel advertises the doll to help children “practise self-care” and “inspire mindfulness,” but Suri claims that the doll is Satan’s attempt to “use children and indoctrinate them for his glory. Then, when he is done, destroy them.”

“Satan always comes as appearing innocent. He will never come with horns and a pitchfork,” she wrote.

Suri claimed, “Yoga IS Hinduism. You cannot separate the poses from the religion. Each pose is designed to invoke a hindu deity in the spirit realm.”

“I have seen children possessed by demons,” she said. “As your kids grow, they get rebellious, depressed and many will be suicidal. You won’t understand what’s happening as a parent.”

She warned parents to “remove all toys and clean their room of all demonic attachments”.

The majority of Facebook users mocked Suri.

Occult

“This is why is SUPER IMPORTANT to ask for help when you are having problems with your mental health. Please get help!” read the top comment, posted by Eva De Metal.

Suri said: “There are some Christians that have no issues with the teachings behind yoga and there are some that do. I am one that does. When we open up to occult-based practices, there are dangers of demonic activity.”

“She took advantage of my drunkenness to bite my testicles.”

“I was only rescued by neighbours after they heard me scream.”

He said it was the second time his wife had physically abused him and it is better he walks away while he is still alive.

Mushiwa, of Lusaka, Zambia, said: “At times I think my wife is demon possessed because she gets angry and violent whenever you want to reason with her.”

THE year of 1966 holds a special place in the hearts of Englishmen...

It was, of course, the year England bashed the Germans to win the World Cup in the popular sport of Association Football.

But it was also the year of another iconic moment.

Because on 25 May 1966, a little-known actress called Julie Goodyear arrived on Coronation Street.

And brassy barmaid Bet Lynch soon became one of soap's greatest characters.

Almost single-handed, Julie made leopard print the uniform for a certain sort of lady often found in northern backstreet boozers.

Today, of course, leopard print is all the rage again. And where Bet Lynch led, others gladly follow.

Music teacher's 'cult-like' group exploited kids

A BARMY high school band leader ran a "cult-like" student group and tracked their locations around the clock while compelling them to work at his farm to prepare for the apocalypse!

Music teacher Gabriel Fielder (above) and guidance counsellor Lenny Finelli resigned from Leesburg High School in Florida after shocking allegations emerged from former students about "The Elder Council".

Finelli, who aided Fielder in running the society, was accused of inappropriate sexual correspondence with a male student whose therapist contacted the school to report the allegations.

Elder Council participants said they were subjected to manipulation and exploitation by Fielder, who told them he was a divine presence and hosted regular meetings at his 13-acre farm.

Fielder and Finelli won't face any criminal charges and a report by the school denied that the society was a cult.

Naked woman 'had no memory' of biting cop

A WOMAN who walked into a petrol station naked and covered in blood has been ordered to pay compensation to a cop after she bit him.

Fearing she had been involved in a crime, horrified staff called the emergency services.

Sharna Elson became aggressive towards ambulance workers, who then took her to the Royal Stoke University Hospital.

The 21-year-old had to be restrained by police officers and bit one of them during a struggle.

She later said she had no memory of the incident and did not know how she came to be at the Euro Garage in Bucknall, Staffs.

Elson, of Newcastle, pleaded guilty to assaulting an emergency worker.

She was ordered to pay £75 compensation to the police officer. No other punishment was imposed.

CCTV footage of vile vandal

THE hunt is on for a vile vandal who destroyed EIGHT WIGS... by SHITTING in them!

Police in Wichita, Kansas, have released photos of a woman they believe destroyed the hairpieces through her actions at the store on May 10.

The Wichita Police Department said the woman defecated 'in the middle of the aisle' at Mid-K Beauty Supply store, where the wigs were located.

Authorities say that the defecation was 'significant enough that eight wigs were destroyed as a result', adding that the owner wants to identify the 'pooperator' in order to pursue criminal charges.

The incident was caught on the beauty store's surveillance camera.

In the comments section of the police department's Facebook post on the case, they also joked: 'We've already confirmed that this is NOT Amber Heard so please stop calling and emailing that info!

It was open mic hour in the Facebook comments, as the police department also cracked: 'This might be one of those cases that sticks with us.'

The police were referencing the testimony given by Johnny Depp's chauffeur and security guard, Starling Jenkins III, who in court on April 28 said that Depp's ex Amber Heard had left 'a surprise' in her and Depp's bed after a fight in 2016.

Jenkins testified that while he was driving Heard to the Coachella Valley Music and Arts Festival in Indio, California, the actress told him that the defecation was a 'horrible practical joke gone wrong.'

M&S loo w*nker's guilty plea switch

A MAN has pleaded guilty to furiously masturbating in toilets at a branch of Marks and Spencer.

Ianos Carolea, 36, originally from Romania but now living in Ireland, is charged with masturbating in public at the Marks & Spencer on Mary Street, Dublin.

He appeared before Judge Bryan Smyth at Dublin District Court.

Defence solicitor Michael Kelleher said the court could note a guilty plea after Carolea had previously intended to contest the charge.

The judge noted there were three police witnesses but no CCTV evidence.

Judge Smyth adjourned the case for a sentencing hearing in July.

MMA HUNK 'CHOKED' MAN ATTACKING COP

A FORMER mixed martial arts fighter jumped into action to take down a man attacking a cop.

William Cassoday was driving to visit his mum when he saw the attack on Porter County, Indiana, Sheriff's Office patrolman Jamison Smith.

"As I was passing, I see the guy swinging at the cop," 39-year-old Cassoday (below) said.

The MMA fighter and Brazilian jiu-jitsu brown belt pulled over and tackled Christopher Delgado. He put his arm around Delgado's neck from behind and used his other arm to tighten the grip in a "rear-naked choke".

"He kinda felt like he went limp for a second and so I loosen it up," Cassoday said.

"I'm 280 pounds, this guy was probably half my size," he added.

Delgado, 37, has been charged with one count of battery on a law enforcement officer resulting in bodily injury.

Naked killer went on hit-and-run orgy

A NAKED man allegedly murdered a woman and her child, then killed another person and injured several more as he tried to flee.

Dan Spidle, 35, was in three separate hit-and-run car crashes in his botched getaway and fatally shot the driver of one vehicle that he hit.

Spidle began his crazed crime spree at an apartment complex in Coral Springs, Florida, where cops say he killed a woman and left her child mortally wounded.

Spidle fled in a silver 2019 Kia and was involved in hit-and-run crashes in Pompano Beach and Coconut Creek.

He shot and killed the driver of a white pickup he had hit, according to police.

Spidle (above) faces charges of murder, burglary and fleeing the scenes of multiple accidents.

CAR WASH CRACKERS!

SALLIE AXL

FROM LIVERPOOL

LET'S face it... washing the car in the depths of winter is no fun at all.

Slopping water over the filthy motor as the north wind whistles is not a task enjoyed by sane people.

But once the birds start singing and the sun starts shining, there can be few jobs more enjoyable than soaping down your pride and joy on the front drive, exchanging cheering banter with passersby and neighbours.

By JAYNE FERGUSON
news@sundaysport.co.uk

And in these dark days of financial storm, washing your own car saves a few pennies to go into the kitty, which will help pay for this winter's larcenous fuel bills.

So, to encourage everyone to get outdoors with a bucket full of soapy water and a well-rinsed sponge, here's five pages of topless babes washing their cars...

CHAMBER OF HORRORS

WHEN police investigated the abduction and slaughter of a pretty university student, the trail led to evil James Dean Worley. But when they swooped on his home, not only did they find a killer, they also discovered a serial abductor's blood-stained dungeon, which suggested many more victims...

SUFFERED: Sierah could have choked for 10 mins before dying

HELL HOLE: Cops found Sierah's DNA on rope and duct tape in Worley's barn

OFFICIALLY, James Dean Worley's kill count stands at just one.

He was sentenced for the 2016 abduction and murder of 20-year-old Sierah Joughin, who'd disappeared while riding her bike near her home in Toledo, Ohio.

But when detectives searched Worley's home, not only did they find evidence linking him to Sierah's killing, they also discovered a hidden room specifically designed for "holding a human against their will".

The police reports describe walls smeared with blood.

Worley had previous, too. He'd served three years in prison for another, eerily similar abduction attempt in the 1990s.

Experts believe he is responsible for countless other disappearances in the area, fingering him as a suspect in as many as 20 unsolved cases.

Hogtied

Poor Sierah, a student at the University of Toledo, was found in a shallow grave in a cornfield, hogtied, with rope.

How many other bodies are buried in similar locations?

Only Worley knows. But it's not likely he'll be revealing his secrets any time soon – he's always protested his innocence.

Judge Jeffrey Robinson kept his comments brief after sentencing Worley to death, saying: "If I thought there was a snowball's chance in hell you were innocent, I'd have given you life."

Sierah's uncle, Howard Ice, read a heartbreaking statement from his grieving family shortly after the sentencing.

Choking back tears, he said: "When Sierah went missing, little did we know the harrowing series of events that would unfold.

"How did this happen to our family?"

"It's hard to put into perspective the emotions we've gone through over the past 18 months."

"Our family wanted two things. The first was justice for Sierah. The second was to make this tragedy accountable for future good, to find something that could help law enforcement, give them the upper hand, and sharpen their focus when the next person goes missing."

"From the start we recognised a flaw in Ohio's criminal database system – that there's no centralised location to search for violent offenders."

"James Worley could have been visited by police within hours of Sierah going missing, rather than days. That could have been the difference between her living and dying."

"We can wilt from the grief, or be strong and determined to raise something out of the ashes of misery."

Visibly struggling to compose himself, Howard went on: "Sierah loved Halloween. She loved to dress up as a superhero. She was Batman, she was Superman. She was strong and she was determined."

"In real life, Sierah really was a superhero because she ended up taking down a killer, a killer with a violent past, with the devil in his eyes, someone who had the look of travelling this path many times before.

"And in the end our beautiful Sierah won the battle of good versus evil. We believe that her sacrifice has saved other lives which were to come."

Worley, who still lived with his mother at the age of 57, had been described as a "mild-mannered oddball" throughout his life, despite the fact he had a relatively normal upbringing.

Suspicious

One expert described him as being "isolated, both emotionally and physically", which caused him to seek comfort in depravity.

He'd had a string of failed businesses and earned a living repairing engines, but locals had suspicions about him.

Lisa Peluso had paid him a visit, with her young daughter in tow, just days before Sierah disappeared.

She had met Worley just once before, in 2015, but says: "I was really shocked he remembered my name. And he looked at my daughter and was like, 'You're 12, aren't you?' Madalynn and I looked at each other and I thought, 'That's weird'."

"I was kind of scared. I had this gut feeling. There was just something about him that made me think he was strange."

If only Lisa – and everyone else in the community – knew about Worley's horrific past.

In 1990, he had pulled alongside 26-year-old Robin Gardner as she cycled and shouted: "Get in the truck or I'm going to kill you!"

Robin, who managed to escape, was forced to relive those fearful moments as part of Worley's trial for Sierah's murder. She bravely told the jury of her getaway as Worley had tried to handcuff her.

She recalled: "The door closed on the passenger

WHAT'S ANNOYING HIM THIS WEEK?

It could be you
...but it's NEVER me!

CHEQUE THIS OUT!
Couple celebrate whopping jackpot

THINGS you really don't want to know how much money you've spent on over the years No 1029...

The National Lottery has got to be RIGHT up there.

It began in the mid-90s and has rolled on ever since, creating scores of millionaires and multi-millionaires along the way.

Critics argue it's a tax on the poor. But that's not entirely true.

Not long after it started, yours truly interviewed a fella in Manchester who'd won about ten million.

He was delighted, he said. But it wasn't like he needed the money.

He and his business partner, with whom he shared the jackpot, were already millionaires thanks to their joint ownership of a wooden pallet business.

This revelation did not make him popular.

But not nearly as unpopular as when, just months later, the stuffy pair landed ANOTHER hefty win between them, albeit in the £100,000s rather than millions.

Throughout that period, I also met a £3m+ winner from the south coast – a seaside holiday resort cleaner – who planned to treat herself to a new Mini Metro.

No doubt her new drive would get her to work more comfortably.

Those blocked urinals won't scrub themselves!

Then there was the bachelor bloke in Liverpool who was still living with his parents in his 30s or 40s.

He landed around £14m and knew instantly what to do with his windfall – a new shed, with lots of shiny new gardening and DIY equipment.

These things, I realised at the time, were there to offer a reminder of how much God clearly despises me.

In recent years, though, thanks to the ever-invasive internet, it's actually worse.

Like many, I've got the National Lottery app on my phone. And every month, because it's like magic money, I transfer a few quid into it so I can play throughout the month.

It promises that should you win, they'll alert you straight away.

But you never really believe it, as the notifications never come.

So you start physically checking in any case.

And sure enough, the reason there are no notifications is because you haven't matched the right number of balls.

And back you go into that deep, dark depression, especially as you were so certain of a win that you'd held off on your energy bills while waiting for the megabucks.

As if to hammer home the message, we learned last week of a couple from Gloucestershire who scooped a whopping £184.2m on EuroMillions – the biggest ever prize won in the UK.

And how did they learn of their good fortune?

Bounty

Via the fking app, of course.

Imagine that?

In among all that other crap we get bombarded with, in the middle of the headlines and weather updates, a quick message to say you'd just won unimaginable riches.

Cleverer people than I, which doesn't take much, are now pointing out the true value of this unexpected bounty.

With the right accountant, Joe Thwaite and his missus need never touch the lump sum, as the interest it will earn them every single day will make your eyes water.

After tax (you only pay tax on interest on a lottery win) they will "earn" upwards of £100,000 a week alone.

It could be you, they say.

But it wasn't.

It was them.

Thief told cops:
I'll give you $1m
if you let me go

A WOULD-BE robber allegedly offered cops $1million to not arrest him for punching a woman in the face as he tried to steal her handbag.

Ricardo Esparza, 49, followed the woman down an alley in Davenport, Iowa, according to arresting documents.

When the woman turned round, he grabbed the straps of her bag, which was hanging on her shoulder.

As he tried to snatch the handbag, Esparza punched the woman in the face, cops said.

The victim called police, who nabbed Esparza a short distance from the alley.

While he was in the back of the police car, he offered the officers $1m to release him.

He said he could transfer the money directly into the cops' bank account or give it to them in cash.

Police asked Esparza if he was trying to bribe him. He told them he was.

Esparza (above) is scheduled to appear in court on May 27.

Screw smuggled porn into prison
to sell to lags

A PRISON screw was arrested for smuggling in pornography to sell to inmates.

Frederick Johnson, an employee of the Mobile County jail, Alabama, is charged with 21 counts of promoting prison contraband for allegedly sneaking flash drives loaded with porn, as well as phone chargers, cameras and a camera watch into the prison, the Mobile County Sheriff's Office said.

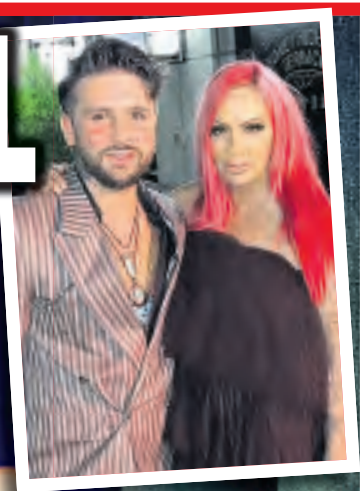

He was busted with the contraband when the Mobile County Metro Jail conducted a random bag search as corrections officers entered the facility.

Investigators said Johnson was selling the electronics to inmates.

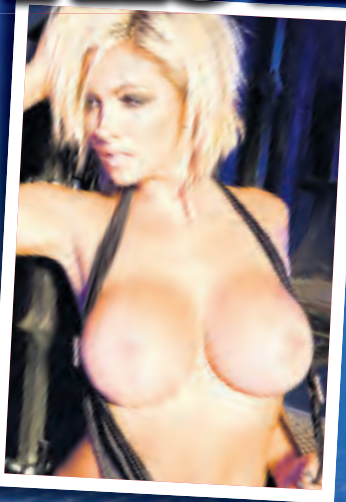

He had worked at the jail for three years.

"This behaviour will not be tolerated," Sheriff Sam Cochran said.

FANCY taking Jodie Marsh up the aisle?

Well now's your chance, because the stunna is single again.

Jodie revealed she's split from her boyfriend of three years, Billy Collins Nuttall, claiming he cheated on her throughout their relationship.

The former glamour model, 43, took to Instagram to announce her news in a lengthy statement, insisting she had discovered revealing photos from other women on 26-year-old Billy's phone.

Cheating

She wrote: "Billy and I have split up. Turns out he's been cheating on me for the whole three years."

"Sexting other girls and begging for naked photos - which he's got by the bucketload."

"This has been going on literally the whole three years we've been together."

"He admitted to everything when I confronted him and I have screen shot ALL the evidence to prove it as I'm not going to have anyone think anything other than the truth.

"I gave him the world and it still wasn't enough."

She added: "Please allow me some space - I'm not even done grieving for my mum yet."

"This is really hard to comprehend as I truly thought I'd found my soulmate."

Jodie was left heartbroken when her mother Kristina died after a battle with cancer in September 2020.

Jodie first started dating Billy in May 2019 and she previously said she planned to freeze her eggs so they could start a family together.

Their romance came after Jodie announced she had ended things with her ex

Wayne Lennox in January 2019.

Her relationship with Wayne had brought to an end her three-year-long celibacy pledge, which came after she split from second husband James Placido in 2016.

The couple had only been married for eight months and Jodie confirmed their split in a lengthy Twitter rant, in which she claimed he had been making "monetary demands".

Jodie was briefly married to Matt Peacock in 2007 for just two months after the pair met on the reality show Totally Jodie Marsh: Who'll Take Her Up the Aisle?

She dated TOWIE's Kirk Norcross in 2012 for just two weeks and he later alleged she refused to sleep with him in an interview with Reveal magazine.

THE WORLD FAMOUS AGONY Page

Dear Sam,

I AM a lawnmower repair man and I get around to quite a few big, posh houses.

As you can imagine, some of my clients are rich women who don't get a decent porking from their get-ahead business-type husbands who spend most of their days jetting around the globe drumming up trade for their multi-national companies.

I find most of these men are more interested in their business than they are their wives.

And that's where I come in. I try to give more than just a blade sharpening and I have about four clients on the go at any one time. The services I offer include giving them a damn good shuffling, of course.

Lately, though, this old bird has been telling me she's going to leave her husband and she wants to shuck up with me.

How do I tell her it's only her minge I want?

DW, email

Sam says...

YOU don't seem to be the most tactful of men. Tell her you think she needs to try to get closer to her husband.

Dear Sam,

SOME of my mates have been giving me real grief over my new girlfriend.

She's quite a good looker but she's - how do I put this - been around the block a bit.

She's 10 years older than me and most of my mates have shagged her at some time or another.

None of this really bothers me as I believe everyone's entitled to a past, and mine isn't exactly unblemished.

The thing that really bothers me though is her toes. I'm a bit of a foot man and it was only when I went down to give her pinkies a bit of a nibble that I saw she has really unkempt toenails and it put me off.

Some of them were yellow and her cuticles were a total mess. Nothing that a decent pedicure wouldn't sort out, but it still knocked me back a bit.

The thing is, I really do like her and want to continue seeing her. How do I tell her that her toes disgust me?

TH, Reading

Sam says...

WHY don't you give her a pedicure yourself? Then you could take your love of feet a bit further, no?

Lover with a wandering eye ogles all the ladies

Dear Sam,

MY fella is forever ogling other women and it's driving me MAD!

As a couple we're really well suited and we get on in the sack like rabbits on Viagra.

He's always slipping me one and takes every opportunity he gets to ram his six-incher into me.

He says he loves me and only has eyes for me, but whenever we're out he insists on wearing dark glasses so I can't see who he's leering at.

I know just what he's up to, however. His head always turns slightly when a busty woman walks past. Oh, and he looks total idiot wearing shades after the sun's gone down.

It's beginning to affect our relationship as I never look at other blokes when we're out and I expect the same from him. How do I make him stop?

GS, Merseyside

Sam says...

AGONY IS BROUGHT TO YOU IN ASSOCIATION

WELCOME to the World famous Sport Agony page! No other newspaper's agony aunts can offer the level of advice – or experience – than our own Agony Angels! This week SAM TYE has been reading through your letters. And here's her advice for you...

I like to touch it while randy neighbour's missus watches

Dear Sam,

FOR the past year I've had this wonderful fantasy of shagging my next-door neighbour's hot and gorgeous wife.

She used to be blonde but changed her colour to cherry brown because I told her that it would look sexier on her.

She's in her late 30s and I'm only 19 and it all started when I saw her topless in her garden.

I obviously noticed that her tits were huge, and as she lay back in her skimpy bikini she looked very sexy.

She was sunbathing and rubbing suntan lotion into her knockers when she saw me standing there in my shorts with my cock bulging, even though I was concentrating really hard to keep it under control.

I thought she'd run off to cover up but she smiled back and said she was trying to grab her husband's attention but now she had seen how big I was, she was glad to have mine.

I told her I'd always loved older women and my fantasy was to shag her in the garden and come all over her mouth, tits and in her arse.

I thought she'd tell me to fk off but she was loving it.

But she said the time wasn't right and her husband would get suspicious if I kept trying to chat her up.

She certainly had me hooked with the promise of fulfilling my fantasy. I caught her eye again later when I stood at my bedroom window and had a wank.

I was thrilled that she watched and squeezed her tits and slipped a hand into her bikini bottoms as I came all over the window.

It was lucky that I had a box of tissues handy to wipe it all up, but as she saw me cleaning it up, the neighbour's wife sucked her fingers and licked her lips, making me hard and ready to have another wank.

Nipples

Then one morning I came back from a run and saw her in her bedroom mirror as she applied her make-up.

She was topless and when she saw me she smiled and fondled her nipples. She invited me into her house and told me her hubby was away.

She then pulled my shorts down and started to suck my hard cock.

She was obviously experienced and knew what to do, looking into my eyes as she licked my pulsating shaft before taking the full length of my rod in her throat.

In minutes I'd spunked in her mouth and she was loving it, smiling as it dripped from her lips.

I then pulled down her skirt, bent her over the table and got my pole straight up her, riding her as she toyed with her clit and my balls until she came with a scream.

Since then we've gone back to wanking at each other through the window.

I'm desperate to fk her again but my mates think she's just stringing me along.

What do you think?

JC, email

Sam says...

TRY to arrange another session – but don't get caught!

Dear Sam,

I LOST my job recently and as my mate is a plumber he often needs a hand and so I got the nod for some regular work.

It's a great way to earn some extra cash and I should point out always declare what I earn.

We were on a job last week and the problem was only a leaky tap.

When I got to the house it looked a bit run down.

I knocked and a woman answered the door in her pyjamas with her long dark hair all over the place.

She looked like she'd just got out of bed after an long shagging session – but pretty soon she was having one!

She grabbed my knob without so much as a hello as soon as I was through the door.

She then dragged me upstairs and proceeded to ride my cock off all ways up.

She begged me to finish off all over her face and tits and as you can imagine I was happy to oblige, leaving her front a creamy mess.

Then my mate walked in and told me if I ever do that with a customer again he'll fire me.

What did I do wrong?

JA, email

Sam says...

I THINK he's just jealous that he didn't manage to get some, but it might be best to keep your nose – and your knob – clean from now on.

Amazing hotel shag after row with wife

Dear Sam,

I HAD a blazing row with the missus the other day over me not picking up my underpants, or something like that – she would not bloody stop.

So I decided to go out and get pissed in order to let her cool off a bit.

I went to a boozer on the edge of town to make sure she wouldn't be able to find me and while there I met an old girlfriend. And out of spite I suggested we carry on our intimate chat at a local Travelodge.

We booked into a room and almost immediately she pulled off her top and wriggled out of her panties before making a grab for my trousers.

I wasted no time at all and dived between her thighs to push my tongue deep into her neatly trimmed and moist fanny. She then rolled over on to her tummy and took my erect dick into her mouth right up to the hilt.

When I could stand it no longer I bent her over the bed and took her doggy-style.

And that was just for starters. She was remarkable and wanted to do things my girlfriend wouldn't.

However, she has made it clear that it was just a one-off because she has a regular fella and is getting married later this year.

When our session came to an end I dropped her off in town, which is where I made my mistake. My wife's sister saw us and spilled the beans.

Of course, she hit the roof and wants a divorce. I've tried all the lies I know to get me out of this mess but she is refusing to forgive my indiscretion.

I'm desperate to win her back because her old man's loaded and pays for our holidays. What can I do?

IR, South Yorks

Sam says...

LEARN how to defuse a row in future – and meantime book yourself a holiday for one!

#HOT'N'HORNY

HOT Holly Henderson has got no time for the likes of domineering Fifty Shades of Grey character Christian Grey.

That's because the model, who is also famous for dating footballer Mario Balotelli, likes to be the boss in the bedroom.

Scouser Holly said she is not against being tied up, but she's more likely to be the one taking control in bed.

When asked her fave sex position, the 34E scorchers said: "If I had to pick one, I would say me on top."

"I like being in control and it means the guy can have a good look at my boobs, too."

"And if they're crap in bed, then I can at least make sure I have a good time and get myself off."

"If a man is rubbish in bed, he won't last long with me!"

And when it comes to trying Fifty Shades-style nookie, she added: "I've tried bondage. I've been tied up and dominated a bit in bed."

"But I'm more likely to be the dominant one!"

SPECIAL OFFER: ANY 3 PRIVATE SHOPS DVDs FOR £25 (was £75)

IT'S finally time to say goodbye to the creepy Crawleys of Downton Abbey and hello to the horny hotties of buxom Bottomley Manor!

For all you red-blooded fellas who love your porn but are bored to tears by dull Downton Abbey this is your lucky day. Released last week, the UK's most highly anticipated adult movie is available exclusively through the Sport's adult partner Private Shops and, for a limited time they're offering readers another £5 OFF the already low, low price.

Down On Abby is a big budget, full length adult masterpiece starring porn legend Ben Dover and a cast of the hottest adult stars around. It will transport you to Bottomley Manor, home to the Lord Grabhem (played by Ben Dover), his wife (and 2014 AVN nominee) Jasmine Jae, and their two young promiscuous step-daughters, Abby and Fanny.

The Grabhems have invited the Stiffies to dinner and their staff, led by butler Small and footman Master Bates, hurriedly prepare to receive their honoured guests.

But during preparations some members of staff have their own ideas of how to make the night go with a bang! As dinner approaches it seems everyone's got more than fancy nosh on their minds. Mind you, there is plenty of noshing as well as lots of other filth that will even cause a crease in Carson's keks.

We see plenty of R18 DVDs at the Sport but this one is really something special and one you MUST not miss!

This future classic stars Ava Dalush as Missy, Cathy Heaven as Lucy, Emma Leigh as Betty, Jasmine Jae as Lady Wanda Grabhem, Jasmine James as Fanny Grabhem, Jess West as Lady Stiffie, Lexi Lowe as Abby Grabhem, Ben Dover as Lord Will Grabhem, Big Bad Dave as Smithers and Clarke Kent as Master Bates.

ON A MISSION:
McCullum

We can make Test cricket great again

BRENDON McCullum says making England strong again will SAVE Test cricket.

By GEOFF TRUEMAN

The New Zealander has been appointed to halt the decline of a team that has won just one of its last 17 matches and will report for duty at the end of this month to begin work with new captain Ben Stokes.

McCullum was one of the most buccaneering players around during his on-field career and he is confident that making England a competitive, attractive outfit can provide a lift to the wider Test game.

Thrive

He said: "Test cricket has always been the pinnacle for me and maybe the popularity of it has somehow trended south of late.

"If red-ball cricket is to not just sustain but to thrive, it needs England to be playing an attractive brand of Test cricket, which is competing with Australia, India, New Zealand.

"It's a big, lofty goal but it's what is in front of us.

"That is what enthused me, if we can get that right, to get England back to where they — where we — should be, which is top of the pile.

"Challenging the best teams in the world, playing the brand that appeals to the next generation, then we're able to get Test cricket to a stage where kids are wanting to play it rather than just white ball."

Turning his message to the fans of his adopted country, he added: "If we can achieve the ambitions both Stokesy and myself have, it's going to be a team that is certainly worth following.

"Hopefully we can play that kind of entertaining — I won't say cavalier, because that's probably what other people expect us to do — cricket.

"It's a simple philosophy but if we get that right, with the talent that exists in the English cricket set-up, hopefully we'll get results to go in the right direction and build something together."

McCullum also spoke of his close relationship with England's one-day captain Eoin Morgan, revealing the pair speak on a daily basis, and described his new limited-overs counterpart Matthew Mott as a "really astute coach" who operates "without ego".

On the sharing of multi-format players, he added: "Our relationship will be good. There'll be times when we fight over players, no doubt, but we'll try and come to the right decision for the player and the right decision for English cricket."

Meanwhile, Cheteshwar Pujara has been recalled to the India squad for July's fifth Test against England at Edgbaston.

Pujara was dropped for the home Test series against Sri Lanka in March, which India won 2-0.

Injury

The 34-year-old has been in outstanding form for Sussex this season, scoring four centuries in eight innings to average 120 in the County Championship.

Ravindra Jadeja, whose IPL season was ended by a rib injury, is also part of a 17-man party led by Rohit Sharma.

Batter Ajinkya Rahane misses out after being ruled with a hamstring injury.

The fifth Test will be staged at Edgbaston from July 1-5, with India leading 2-1.

Last summer's decider at Old Trafford was called off when India were unable to field a team due to COVID cases in the squad.

BIG CHANGES AHEAD AT STAMFORD BRIDGE

Tuchel all talk over new Blues transfers

CHELSEA BOSS WANTS WORD WITH CLUB'S NEW OWNERS

FRANK: Tuchel

THOMAS Tuchel expects "open and honest" talks with Chelsea's new owner Todd Boehly.

The Blues' German coach has admitted Chelsea face a summer of "rebuilding" the Stamford Bridge squad.

Toni Rudiger will join Real Madrid this summer, with Andreas Christensen understood to be making the Barcelona switch.

Interest

Cesar Azpilicueta has triggered an appearance-related extra year on his contract, but Barcelona continue to push for a deal to sign the Blues captain.

The Catalan giants are also understood to hold interest in Marcos Alonso too, and the departure of four key defenders would require significant arrivals as replacements.

Los Angeles Dodgers

By ANDY MILLOM

owner Boehly's £4.25billion takeover inching ever closer to completion.

Tuchel can expect to sit down with Boehly and plot the summer's strategy as and when the Eldridge Industries ownership is rubber-stamped.

And the Chelsea manager admitted he will be as straight-talking as ever when mapping out the Blues' future.

Asked if what Boehly has watched on his London visits would strengthen Tuchel's arguments for squad investment, the Blues manager continued: "Yes but I don't know. We will be very open and honest."

"He will get my point of view if he wants to have it."

"Of course we lose key players and we struggle lately to win our home games."

"He was at the FA Cup final in Wembley. Maybe when the deal is done and he is our owner he is the lucky charm that we need. We give him some credit."

Chelsea's lack of fluency and finishing up front has hit their season, but the Blues will be fairly happy with third place.

Tuchel admitted, however, that despite improvements in consistency Chelsea must sharpen up their creativity and chance conversion.

"It's the story of the season: we need an assist from a wing-back and a goal from a wing-back," said Tuchel.

"You can see the numbers from our offensive players and the numbers of the players in front of us."

"But still we have now secured third place. We have been the whole season in the top three, and we have in mind where we come from in the last season."

"In the last half season we secured fourth place with the help of Tottenham in the last game of the season."

Credit

"So yeah we had some obstacles to overcome and some circumstances around the club which were not easy."

"Full credit to the team, and it is a huge step in consistency for us."

"Maybe it does not feel 100 per cent like this because the gap is so big to the top two teams."

"So, OK we have stuff to do, stuff to improve, we are the first ones to admit that, and from here we go and get the job done."

NEW BOSS: Todd Boehly

VIEIRA: EAGLES CAN FLY

PATRICK Vieira is pleased he shut out the noise and was able to answer his critics during a successful first season at Crystal Palace.

The 45-year-old took over at Selhurst Park in July and was tasked with replacing veteran boss Roy Hodgson in addition to rebuilding a squad that had just lost a number of senior professionals.

Despite accepting the role only six weeks before the start of the season, the former Arsenal captain was able to guide Palace to an impressive 12th-placed finish and also lead them to an FA Cup semi-final at Wembley.

"I think it has been really good and I am really happy with the staff and the way we work," Vieira reflected.

"It has been positive and it is good I did not listen a lot about what people were expecting me to achieve this season.

"I put my head down and with the rest of the staff we work well and work hard.

"We went through a difficult period but we didn't change our philosophy because we knew where we wanted to go and even through a difficult period we manage to stick together.

"Now at the end of the season looking at where we are I am pleased with that."

Palace ended the season on a high by beating Manchester United at Selhurst Park.

That meant the Eagles fell just two short of their highest ever Premier League points tally.

Last summer, Palace's new signings were mostly aged 23 or below – and Vieira is thrilled with how they have handled their first full season in England's top flight.

"Of course it is not easy when you come into a football club and there is a really big turnover," he said.

Support

"With young players coming through of course there is always going to be a question about if those players will adapt. There is also a question of the young, new manager coming into the Premier League and there is a question mark over whether he can handle the pressure of the game.

"But the support has been fantastic, from the sporting director Dougie to the chairman, we work well.

"We always had a clear idea of where we wanted to go. During the season we knew there would be difficult periods but we always tried to stick together and take the positives so that helped us manage those difficult periods."

Palace face another big couple of months with Conor Gallagher set to return to Chelsea and decisions to be made over certain players who are out of contract.

Vieira added: "I think it is all about as a manager, as a coaching staff to keep maintaining the level of the quality of the players and of course with the way we work we expect them to improve."

BIG MOVE: Carvalho

Carvalho finally on his way to Liverpool

LIVERPOOL have finally completed the signing of Fulham forward Fabio Carvalho having failed in a bid to bring the 19-year-old to Anfield in January.

The Portuguese teenager, who is understood to have signed a five-year contract, will officially join on July 1.

Carvalho, out of contract this summer, was set for a move four months ago on deadline day when a £5million deal was agreed with the Championship winners but the transfer window closed without a medical and formal paperwork being concluded.

However, with a number of overseas clubs starting to show interest post-January, Liverpool were keen to avoid being dragged into an auction for the player when his contract expired.

So they agreed that in addition to the initial fee they would pay a further £2.7m in add-ons and attach a 20 percent sell-on clause to secure the player's future ahead of the end of the season.

Those terms mirror the ones set by a tribunal over the signing of another Cottagers youngster Harvey Elliott in the summer of 2019.

Klopp is understood to highly value the player's versatility, skill set and personality and his status as a home-grown player due his development at Craven Cottage is an important factor as Liverpool look to freshen up an ageing squad.

Carvalho's arrival will help replenish a forward line, already boosted by the arrival of Luis Diaz in January, which is losing Divock Origi.

The Belgium international has not played enough matches to trigger a contract extension and was given a farewell send-off at Anfield after the 3-1 victory over Wolves.

Origi missed the match with a muscle injury and Klopp confirmed he had now played his last game for the club as the striker will not be fit for Saturday's Champions League final.

WE'LL BE BACK SAYS DEANO

NORWICH head coach Dean Smith admits his six months in charge have ultimately proved a failure, but is determined the club will return stronger from a Premier League campaign to forget.

Former Aston Villa boss Smith and assistant Craig Shakespeare knew they were facing a tough ask to keep the Canaries up when taking over from Daniel Farke in November.

Although Norwich briefly hauled themselves out of the drop zone with victory at fellow strugglers Watford in January, the same old failings at both ends of the pitch soon saw them back deep in trouble.

With the inevitable relegation confirmed with four games left, the Norfolk club have at least plenty of time to start planning for life in the Championship again.

It's something the Carrow Road club have got used to and they want to live up to their yo-yo club tag by bouncing back to the top flight at the first attempt.

Smith has conducted individual one-on-ones with the players this week and will now be expected to swiftly regroup the squad for the challenges ahead, with the new Football League season set to kick off again on July 30.

It is, though, a challenge the Norwich boss will meet head on.

"Ultimately it has been a failure because my job was to come here and keep us in the Premier League," said Smith.

"I am really disappointed we have not managed to do that.

"We just haven't been quite good enough.

"But there have been some good parts of it, like the emergence of Jon Rowe, who nobody knew about six months ago, and Tony Springett as well.

"We did get out of the bottom three for the first time in something like 500 days, but it has not been a great season.

"We wanted to stay in the league and ultimately we haven't done that."

Smith apologised to the fans for another roller-coaster ride.

He added: "I feel for the supporters, but also for the players and staff as well because as a collective we haven't been good enough.

"But together we will all come back fighting to get back up."

BACKING: Conte

Tottenham set to splash the cash this summer

TOTTENHAM are expected to back Antonio Conte in the transfer market this summer as they try to challenge at the top table of English football again.

Spurs booked their return to the Champions League after a 5-0 win at Norwich on the final day of the season, completing an achievement that boss Antonio Conte had described as needing a "miracle".

They were ninth when the Italian took over in November and then seven points adrift of fourth when they lost to Burnley in February, but 10 wins from their next 14 games saw them overhaul Arsenal, Manchester United and West Ham to claim fourth spot.

Conte is due to meet chairman Daniel Levy and managing director of football Fabio Paratici in the coming days to discuss the future.

The 52-year-old has made it clear that his ambitions are much loftier than scrapping for fourth place.

He said: "It is very important to not forget the path that we had to try to improve the situation because we need to improve."

"Next season for sure, there are five substitutions, another competition and we must understand this, that it will be very difficult, maybe much more than this season."

"Now is really important to celebrate this big achievement but for sure to become competitive and be ready to fight for something important you need to improve, improve a lot in many aspects and I know only one word, that is work, work, work."

"Everybody has to do the right path in this process. We need to improve a lot. Next season the league will be very difficult for all the teams."

"With five subs you can change a game. If the bench is strong like a top team, like City and Liverpool, you need to improve your squad in quality aspect and numerical aspect."

"You have to face in England three national competitions and the Champions League."

IT'S GONNA BE AN IMPORTANT S

LAMPS: NEVER AGAIN!

Everton gaffer wants to spend wisely so Toffees don't face the drop again

EVERTON boss Frank Lampard says he NEVER wants to face another relegation battle.

The Toffees are eighth in the net spend table for all European clubs in the past decade.

But they finished 16th in the table and only secured their safety in their final league match.

Now Lampard will turn his attention to making his squad better and more balanced as he knows without that they could find themselves battling relegation again.

Lampard is well aware the reason they were in such a mess was down to poor performances, and he is keen to address that through recruitment and retention.

"It has obviously been second on the list of priorities because we had to get avoiding relegation done," he said. "Now we will quickly continue to think about that because we have to take the club forward. We have to improve. I have to improve."

"I didn't have a pre-season and now I and my staff do. Can we make the squad stronger and more balanced?"

"I believe we can, and there will be things we will look at and it is important that we look at them quickly."

"We have Kevin Thelwell the new director of football now, we have the board who are interested in getting the best out of the club."

"We don't want to be here next season, but we understand if we don't make positive moves it could be possible, so we will be ready to move on that quickly."

Six players – two back-up goalkeepers Asmir Begovic and Andy Lonergan, defender Jonjoe

Kenny, midfielder Fabian Delph and forwards Cenk Tosun and Gylfi Sigurdsson – are all out of contract in the summer.

Of those Everton may want to try to keep Begovic and Delph, for whom deals would be relatively inexpensive to do, but the squad needs an injection of fresh blood.

Dele Alli's appearance for the second half against Crystal Palace saw him produce arguably his best display in four disappointing months since joining from Tottenham, and Lampard will hope he can nurture the England international back to top form.

The Everton manager will also be hoping extending their Premier League stay will persuade some of his better players they can still enjoy a future at the club.

Match-winner Dominic Calvert-Lewin may have had an injury-plagued season but he has been linked with a summer move, with Arsenal among the clubs in the hunt, while England number one Jordan Pickford and Richarlison are the only other players who could be tempted away.

Lampard plans talks with all of them to map out his vision.

"Those conversations have been on hold because everyone knew our situation," he said.

Successful

"I'm not silly. Players want to play in the Premier League, all of those players want to, so now those conversations can start."

"You saw the quality levels of Jordan throughout the season but in the last six weeks particularly of Dominic and of Richarlison."

"We want to be successful, we want to continue in that way."

What the manager does not yet know is what the implications of financial rules will be, as the club has made a combined loss of more than £370million over the last three years and he could be forced to raise money before he can spend.

"I haven't felt that to be honest, but if that is the case, we will sit down and try and work the best way through it," he said.

"I know it is a big story, I know FFP, I genuinely don't know the details.

"If I had my way, let me keep players who perform really well for the club and let us keep as far up the table as we can.

"My biggest thing here is that I want a happy determined camp that moves in the same direction and that is something we have to look at in every sense.

Lampard thinks Alli could be a key man for the Toffees next season.

He has struggled for a number of seasons to recreate his best form but Lampard is confident he can pull more performances like Thursday's 45-minute Palace cameo.

"To be fair to Dele, in the last two or three weeks he has trained well," said Lampard.

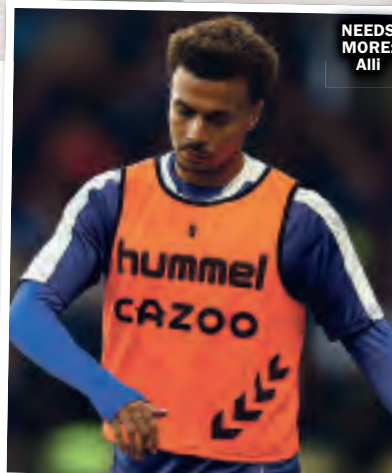

"I can see in his face he is disappointed sometimes that he is not playing. I am not silly to that.

"But I know his qualities, I saw them and that is why I brought him to the club. People will question why he has not had so much game time.

"There are reasons behind the scenes for that but when it came to the moment.

"It was a desperate moment for us at half-time against Palace and my feeling with Dele is that, because of the levels he has reached in his career so far, he can handle these situations in a game like this, because he has played in the Champions League, he has played for his country."

LEGENDS:
City players

My City aces are legends beams Pep

By ANDY MILLOM

PEP Guardiola believes his Manchester City players are all "legends" for the way they won the Premier League in such dramatic fashion.

A decade on from Sergio Aguero sealing the crown in a jaw-dropping 3-2 final day win, a rocking Etihad Stadium witnessed similar drama just as the title appeared to be slipping out of their grasp.

Matty Cash and ex-Liverpool favourite Philippe Coutinho scored against stunned City, who knew the crown would head along the M62 to Anfield if Jurgen Klopp's Reds eventually found a way to beat well-drilled Wolves.

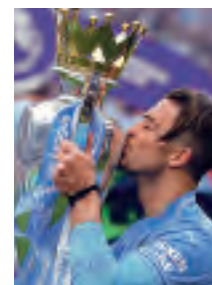

Liverpool ended up 3-1 victors but City by that point had launched an unforgettable five-minute turnaround rendering that immaterial, with super sub Ilkay Gundogan scoring either side of Rodri's strike in a 3-2 victory.

The Etihad Stadium had not seen such noise and drama since winning by the same scoreline against QPR a decade ago, leaving Guardiola beaming with pride and admiration.

"In the last five years winning four Premier Leagues, these guys are legends already," Guardiola said.

"I'm sorry, people have to admit it. This group of players are absolutely eternal in this club because what we achieve is so difficult to do.

"Just Sir Alex

KISS IT: Jack Grealish

Ferguson with United has done it years ago two or three times, now I realised again the magnitude of Sir Alex and his United."

Asked how he masterminded such an unlikely turnaround, Guardiola joked: "Well, I called Real Madrid and they gave me good advice.

"This was the reason why.

"Listen, no explanation in Madrid, no explanation today. It's momentum.

"Sometimes it's nice to live these kind of situations. We live it for the future. I had a feeling that it will help us to be stronger next season.

"Maybe we need a little bit more time but every second that passes after winning this Premier League, we realise that four leagues in five years in this country is probably the best achievement we have done in our careers.

"It's incredible. We'll be so proud for a long, long time."

Ten Hag wants a United team of battlers

ERIK Ten Hag wants his Manchester United players to fight for the shirt.

The Dutchman is the eighth man to have the Old Trafford hotseat since Sir Alex Ferguson retired in 2013.

He is confident that he can put the Red Devils back on their perch despite United clocked up their lowest ever Premier League points tally this season.

Ten Hag said: "I'm really excited to do that with the people around, who are in the club."

"We bring some new people in with the staff. We will analyse the squad and we will go along from day to day.

"We must work hard, be 100 per cent committed and then I'm sure we will get success."

Former United boss and fellow Dutchman Louis Van Gaal reportedly told Ten Hag not to sign at Old Trafford because they only care about money.

But he insists he is not worried. Ten Hag said: "I spoke with Louis. I have heard but, as I said, I draw my own line."

"I'm convinced that this will not be the case and I spoke of course with the directors about it."

"But football is priority one, two and three at this club and every club in these days is commercial and every club needs it."
